

Occupational Health and Safety Representatives Refresher

State ID: A0876P

About this course

Description

This course has been developed for safety and health representatives who have previously completed a five-day introductory training course approved by WorkSafe.

The course has been designed to refresh participants' knowledge of the key functions they are expected to perform as a workplace safety and health representative.

- safety and health representative role and responsibilities
- OHS risk management including: the identification of hazards and assessment of risk and recommended controls
- legislation updates
- apply knowledge of legislation in the role of a Safety and Health Representative
- duty of care provisions in the legislation
- resolve conflict and issue Provisional Improvement Notices (PINs) when appropriate
- describe the functions, make up and roles of a Safety and Health committee

Certification

This is a non accredited course. Successful completion of this course will provide applicants with a Statement of

We're working for Western Australia.

Attendance from the South Regional TAFE.

Overview

RTO code: 52790
Printed: 24/08/2019