

White Card

State ID: MAA08

About this course

Description

To enter a building site in Australia it is a requirement to hold a current General Induction card, also known as a 'White Card' (formerly Blue Card). The card is valid for use on all construction sites in Australia.

This training reinforces the Occupational Health and Safety roles and responsibilities of employees and employers aimed at raising the safety standards in the construction industry.

The course covers:

- Occupational Health and Safety legislation in the workplace
- Communication and consultation on Occupational Health and Safety
- Implementing Occupational Health and Safety risk management & the principles of safe systems
- Emergencies & first aid in the workplace
- Key principles relating to workplace injury management

Certification

On successful completion of this course, students will receive a statement of attainment for the following nationally accredited units.

- CPCWHS1001 Prepare to Work Safely in the Construction Industry

South Regional

We're working for Western Australia.

Overview

RTO code: 52790
Printed: 25/01/2020