Message from the Governing Council Chair and Managing Director

Susan Barrera
Governing Council Chair

Darshi Ganeson-Oats
Managing Director

It is our pleasure to present South Regional TAFE's 2022-24 Strategic Plan.

Our plan has been developed to position South Regional TAFE to support the continued growth of the South West and Great Southern regions through innovative, responsive and industry-led training. We know how important it is to understand the pulse of our community and to respond to current and emerging workforce needs. By engaging with, and listening to, the needs of students, employers and industry, we will deliver quality training that fosters and develops work-ready, employable graduates. To ensure we drive our business in the right direction, the development of our 2022-24 strategic plan has been informed by consultation with industry stakeholders and community representatives and provides a roadmap for the college to achieve our purpose of building our community today, for tomorrow.

The State Government's continued investment in the vocational education and training sector provides the catalyst to meet our region's diverse skilling needs.

It is imperative that we capitalise on this investment and provide affordable and accessible training options so we can rebuild, reskill and invigorate the community by assisting learners to obtain the skills they need, when they need them.

Through driving accessibility and participation in training and by working collaboratively with schools, industry and the local community, we will meet the region's emerging workforce needs. We will continue to focus on fostering apprenticeship and traineeship pathways, growing employment-enabling programs, and embedding digital capabilities into our training and delivery products. For us, supporting Western Australians in their vocational education and training journey to create a thriving local economy is our priority.

South Regional TAFE is well placed to meet industry and community needs, with a vast suite of low-cost and free training options to meet local workforce requirements, and initiatives to support pathways for school students. With more than $35 million received to establish a new campus in Esperance and to upgrade our training facilities in Albany, Collie and Harvey, these significant investments will help to sustain our commitment to promoting a contemporary and dynamic training environment, where we will continue to work with employers and industry to deliver innovative, flexible and responsive training products and services.

Our plan reflects our approach to implementing the requirements of the State Government's election commitments, WA Recovery Plan and the Plan for WA Jobs, while achieving the strategic priorities identified in the State Training Plan 2021-22. Through this plan, we will continue to implement the outcomes from the skills summits and progress the diversification agenda and the recommendations of the 2020 Report on the Review of Skills, Training and Workforce Development.

Operating Environment

The South West and Great Southern regions are continuing to experience significant growth and prosperity. As Western Australia continues to lead the countries COVID-19 recovery, our regions have experienced growth in population and economic investment and as a result are nearing full employment.

The need for a pipeline of skilled workers to support the growth experienced in areas, including health and community services, manufacturing, construction, agriculture, conservation, mining, tourism and hospitality, is now more important than ever.

Coupled with this is the establishment of emerging industries in areas such as renewable energy, lithium hydroxide processing and the proposed development of an advanced manufacturing and technology hub in the South West region.

Skilling the future workforce

With an increased focus on the establishment and investment in new, clean and renewable energy we are also experiencing a shift of focus away from the dependence of the coal industry in Collie and the timber industry in Manjimup. In order to support the workforce transition to these new opportunities, South Regional TAFE has an important role to re-skill and up-skill existing workers to meet the needs of the emerging industries and to foster regional growth.

In order to capitalise on these and other emerging opportunities, we have added to our scope of delivery for the 2022-24 period and are creating training and delivery products in areas such as:

- ▶ integrated technologies, cyber and robotics;
- ▶ driver training to meet the state-wide shortage of truck drivers;
- ▶ autonomous workplace operations to support technological advancement;
- ▶ arboriculture, aquaculture, beekeeping and technology training to support the agriculture sector.

While South Regional TAFE’s broader operational environment will continue to evolve, we too are evolving to support our community and the need to live locally and train locally. We will continue to work in partnership with our many industry and community stakeholders to leverage off these opportunities and to support a vibrant, agile, work-ready and skilled workforce.

Deliver skills to meet current workforce needs and emerging jobs

Students are at the forefront of everything we do. We will design and deliver programs that encourage and promote access to vocational education and training for students at all stages of their educational and employment journey, whether they are pre-apprentices, apprentices, school-based trainees or students who are embarking on a new career or entering the workforce for the first time. We will empower students to learn and upskill by ensuring support services are effective and responsive and we will foster the online environment to enhance the student experience.

At South Regional TAFE, we embed quality outcomes in our vast suite of training products and services. We will continue to enhance our technology-enabled learning capability to increase flexibility and to meet the needs of our diverse learners and industry. We are continuing to increase our focus on STEM and digitally responsive delivery.

We are constantly engaging with industry to identify the emerging workforce needs so that we can provide students with the skills they need for local jobs, so that people have the continued opportunity to train and work within their local community. We will work hand-in-hand with the local community to understand their needs and how it intersects with the needs of industry. We will continue to focus on driving apprenticeships, school-based trainees and pre-apprenticeship programs and will work with all groups within our community to maximise their access to vocational education and training.

Our commitment to quality education and the enhanced student experience is paramount. We will continue to embed a continuous improvement culture where we foster the student experience through regular feedback mechanisms to ensure that students are engaged and satisfied, and to ensure that high-quality training is delivered.
